Executive Summary

The Milwaukee Justice Center (MJC), a public service project created by the Milwaukee Bar Association in partnership with Marquette University Law School and Milwaukee County, utilizes volunteers to address the unmet legal needs of Milwaukee County's low-income unrepresented litigants through court-based self-help desks and legal resources.

The underlying philosophy of the project is that unrepresented litigants have a fundamental right to access the justice system even if they cannot afford an attorney or do not qualify for legal aid. Generally, unrepresented litigants who earn more than 125 percent of the federal poverty guidelines do not qualify for free legal services. This means a single person earning more than $13,538 or a family of four earning more than $27,563 annually is considered ineligible for most free legal assistance. These families struggle to pay for basic necessities—rent, groceries, and utilities. Thus, when faced with civil legal issues many have no choice but to access the courts alone. As such, the MJC strives to address the substantive and procedural barriers facing unrepresented litigants so that they can better navigate the legal system.

Services Offered

Self-Help Desks:

The Self-Help Desks assist self-represented litigants with filling out forms, and provide step by step instructions for filing in family law, small claims and foreclosure cases. Service is provided on a first come first served basis. The volunteers that staff the Self-Help Desks do not provide legal advice.

Appointments:

Scheduled in one hour increments, clients meet with volunteers to complete divorce paperwork and foreclosure answers. The volunteers that staff appointments do not provide legal advice.

Brief Legal Advice and Referral Clinics:

The Marquette Volunteer Legal Clinic at the Milwaukee Justice Center is a free, walk-in legal information and referral center staffed by volunteer Marquette University law students working with, and supervised by, volunteer attorneys. The Clinic's goal is to provide self-represented litigants with basic legal information and appropriate referrals on civil legal matters including divorce, custody and support, landlord-tenant disputes, probate, small claims and large claims. The Clinic does not take cases or represent clients in an ongoing manner.
